The Clarksville Leaf-Chronicle this week issues a big "Trade Week Edition" of 24 pages, that is a great credit to the paper issuing it, to the city of Clarksville and especially creditable to the fifty or more business men that made the issue possible by their advertisements. The issue contains many excellent special articles dealing with the Clarksville commercial life, the wholesale markets, banking, religious life, schools and public improvements. There are historical sketches of the press, distinguished men, literary men and women, fraternal and an interesting article about the negroes. The resources of Montgomery county are well written up and on the whole the paper is a most valuable presentation of the affairs of the city and county. Typographically it is most artistically arranged and the enterprising publishers are to be congratulated on scoring a big success.

GERMANY WILL GRANT DEMAND

TWO MURDER INDICTMENTS

Grand Jury Brings in Its First Big Batch of Bills Wednesday.

TWENTY-FIVE MORE BILLS

Several Parties In Jail Promptly Tried on Pleas of Guilty.

The grand jury yesterday returned its first batch of indictments, 25 in number, mostly of parties in jail or out on bond. There were in the list two indictments for willful murder. One of these was Henry Campbell, charged with the murder of Ed Greenwade.

The other case is Will Henry Wing, accused of the murder of Jamie Garrett. All of the parties were colored. Other indictments follow:

Clifton Putnam and Claude Putnam, cutting and wounding another with intent to kill.

Joe Poole and Will English, assault and battery.

Jer-e Long and Dick Beard, taking personal property of another without felonious intent.

Byron Hall, shooting at without wounding another, with intent to kill.

Major Wilson, detaining a woman against her will.

Caroline Mallory, assisting prisoner to escape.

Luther Ballard, C. C. D. W.

Willie Watkins, grand larceny.

Lige Howard, housebreaking.

Chris Pryor, housebreaking.

Jim Sullivan, C. C. D. W.

Chester Bays, C. C. D. W.

Claude Mar, C. C. D. W.

John White, chicken stealing.

Ernest Haly, horse stealing.

Wes McKnight, chicken stealing.

Charlie Long and Geo. Suiter, breaking into R. R. car.

Will Brent, C. C. D. W.

Walter Sims, detaining a woman against her will.

Geo. Worthington, petit larceny.

Rich McReynolds, C. C. D. W.

Of the above new indictments several were tried at once. Luther Ballard, Chester Bays, Claude Mar and Will Brent, charged with carrying concealed deadly weapons, each pleaded guilty and was given a $50 fine, ten days in jail and disfranchised.

The cases of Caroline Mallory, Lige Howard and Chris Pryor, were set for the 19th day of court.

Those of John White, Geo. Suiter, Chas. Long and West McKnight were set for the 20th day.

The case of Tom Hoad was set for the 21st day.

Ernest Haly was tried and given a sentence of two years.

The common law case of Dr. W. A. Lackey vs. the L. & N. Railroad was finished Tuesday and the plaintiff given $125, half he sued for.

The case of the Miller Stores vs. R. D. Bellamy was on trial yesterday afternoon.

Ready to Make Settlement of Arabic Case According to Our Wishes.

DISAVOWAL BY BERNSTORFF

Official Washington Gratified Over Diplomatic Victory. Ambassador Pleased.

Washington, Oct. 6.—Germany has acceded to the American demands for settlement of the Arabic case. The imperial government, through its ambassador, Count von Bernstorff, disavows the sinking of the vessel, announces that it has notified the submarine commander who made the attack, expresses regret for the loss of American lives, and agrees to pay an indemnity to the families of Americans lost.

Official Washington was both gratified and relieved by the diplomatic victory. The communication delivered to Secretary Lansing by its ambassador pursuant to general instructions from his government spread absolute confidence that there would be no more submarine controversies between the United States and Germany, for the document reveals that stringent orders have been given to submarine commanders to prevent a recurrence of such incidents as the Arabic.

Since this case embraces the principles for which President Wilson contended in his notes following the torpedoing of the Lusitania and Falaba, concessions made by Germany to the American viewpoint were generally regarded as paving the way for amicable settlement of all the cases which have threatened severance of diplomatic relations between the two countries.

THE COMING PRIMARY

Buffalo was the first of the large cities to adopt commission government and it was hoped that the new plan would bring about a simple, business-like administration of local affairs.

The first election is to be held this fall and the announcement is made with fears for the outcome that "few of the 48 men who have announced themselves as candidates for office under the new order of things are regarded as possessing the highest qualifications." Thirty-five of the aspirants are characterized by the Buffalo Evening News as "impossible." Of the remainder it is said: "There are a handful who should, and could, give us a good administration, but the devious ways of politics make it well nigh impossible to elect them."

"Not all the commission-run cities in the United States have had this exact experience," notes the Pittsburgh Gazette Times, "but those that have had the plan in operation for any length of time have been brought face to face in some manner with the proposition that the human factor, after all, counts for most in municipal government. The commission scheme is in many ways an efficient piece of municipal machinery, but it will not run itself. It requires experts. Capable, honest men are just as necessary for its successful operation as for any other form of government. If they are not forthcoming it would be better to stick to the oldstyle plan. Under Buffalo's former government there was a council so large as to be unwieldy. The responsibility was not sufficiently centralized. The commission device was designed to correct this evil. But to concentrate power in the hands of a few men of the wrong kind will not help matters much, as the good citizens of Buffalo are just beginning to perceive. If 35 or 48 candidates are 'impossible'

REGISTRATION VERY HEAVY

Total Runs to 2,259 in Seven City Precincts of The City.

REPUBLICAN LEAD REDUCED

Increase Over 1914 is 114, With Supplemental Days to Come.

The annual registration Tuesday was the largest on record for the first day, exceeding by 114 the total registration for 1914.

The Democratic vote shows an increase of 91, practically all of the increase being with the Democrats. The Independent vote last year was 87 and this time it is cut half in two and is 46. The Republicans have only 59 majority over the Democrats and Independents. A few years ago their majority in the city was 300.

The registration for 1914 was Democrats 963, Republicans 1,086, Independents 87, a total of 2,145.

The figures for 1915 are here given:

HAS NOT REPLIED TO ULTIMATUM

King Ferdinand Is Committed Definitely to The Germanic Allies.

GREECE'S ATTITUDE IN DOUBT

Ruler Informs Him He Is Unable to Support Policy of His Ministry.

London, Oct. 6.—Russia's ultimatum to Bulgaria expired at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, but so far as known in London, no answer had been received and none was expected.

It is taken for granted here that King Ferdinand and his ministers are committed definitely to the Germanic allies, and in return for territory to be ceded after the war—perhaps some ports, including Constantinople and all that remains of European Turkey—has undertaken to assist actively in operations against Serbia, thus hoping to open the way to the sea of Marmora for the Austro-German army.

The entente powers, in this belief, have landed or are landing a force of 70,000 at Saloniki to protect the main railway through Serbia and Greece to give what assistance it can to the Balkan allies, should they be attacked by Bulgaria. This infringement of Greek neutrality has brought forth a formal protest from the Greek government, and one rumor is that Premier Venizelos may resign.

Greece is able to put 180,000 men, fully equipped, in the field. Although the mobilization, which includes men up to 43 years of age, probably will call for 300,000 troops, those over the 180,000 cannot be armed. It is said the government has sufficient funds to continue on a war footing for one month.

The next move devolves on Bulgaria, and as soon as she moves Anglo-French troops being mobilized will be put in motion, while the fleets in the Black sea and the Aegean will resume their roles.

Meanwhile Russia, whose armies for five months have been retiring, has begun an energetic offensive along a wide front from Riga to southeast of Vilna, and, according to reports, has met with considerable success. This is denied by Berlin, which says that all Russian attacks have been repulsed.

In the west the big guns again have undertaken the task of attempting to level the German entrenchments, presumably in preparation for a continuation of the attacks which proved successful in Artois and Champagne. In some sections there has been infantry fighting in which a trench, or a few yards of a trench changes hands, this being particularly the case in the areas where the allies have made their gains and where the Germans are trying to win back lost ground.

The British fleet, too, is bombarding German positions on the coast of Belgium.

THE ATHENAEUM.

The October meeting of the Athenaeum will be held tonight at Hotel Latham. There will be papers by two of the members, who are sure to have interesting articles. Mr. Jas. A. McKenzie and Dr. F. M. Stites will be the essayists.

Mr. McKenzie's subject will be "Some Phases of Country Life." Dr. Stites will discuss "Socialism in America."

PASSES STATE EXAMINATION.

Lowe G. Johnson, who is teaching the Casky school for the third year, took the State examination two weeks ago and has been notified that he passed with a high mark. He is a very promising and talented young man, a son of Mr. J. T. Johnson.

DEATH COMES SUDDENLY

Mr. A. W. Jones, of Trigg County, Drops Dead of Heart Failure.

Mr. A. W. Jones, a leading farmer of Trigg county, a few miles below Gracey, died of heart failure early Tuesday morning, while looking after his stock. He got up at an early hour and went out to feed his hogs and did not return as usual. About 6 o'clock search was made by his son, who lived with him, and Mr. Jones' body was found lying on the ground in his horse lot, where he had fallen and expired. He was 72 years of age and leaves a wife and six children. One of his sons lives in this city, Mr. John W. Jones. The funeral services were held yesterday and the burial was in a near-by grave yard.

Good Selections.

In sending back to Hopkinsville the present pastor, Dr. Lewis Powell, to continue his work as pastor of the Hopkinsville church, the Methodist Conference has greatly pleased not only his own church, but the people generally in Hopkinsville. Dr. Powell during his first year here has already made a reputation, or rather sustained a reputation already made, as an able minister and a most agreeable gentleman. In addition he has shown himself to be a worker and leader of great force and effectiveness and has already put under way the construction of a new church building to cost $50,000. We congratulate the Methodist brothers upon his return. Rev. Virgil Elgin, in charge of the local circuit, is also quite popular here, socially and as a preacher, and his return is also gratifying. The Presiding Elder, Dr. T. L. Hulse, was at Pembroke before he came here a year ago and is making himself as highly esteemed in Hopkinsville as he was in his former home. Pembroke's new pastor is Rev. W. P. Gordon, who is transferred from Cadiz, where his work has attracted attention in this county. Upon the whole, Christian county churches have reason to congratulate themselves upon their good fortune in the annual "drawing."

A heavy decline in the condition of the growing cotton crop, almost double the average decline of the last ten years, during September, has decreased the production prospects forecast earlier in the season by almost a million bales. The department of agriculture has estimated the crop at 10,950,000 equivalent 500-pound bales, which would be the smallest crop since 1909. Following this announcement Monday, futures advanced more than $1 per bale in a few minutes, and all prices were soon up from 58 to 66 points over Saturday's closing.

The next move is evidently the attempted relief of Constantinople. From the central powers' side have come amplified reports of the great weight of men and metal being piled up preparatory to a blow against Serbia from that side, as the first step in what the popular imagination has accepted as a fact—German determination to smash through the Balkan line and link up with Bulgaria, creating a new battle front from the Austrian border to Constantinople.

John D. Rockefeller can afford to subscribe for the bonds of the allies, as long as he can sell them gasoline for their automobiles and other purpose.

PUBLIC HIGHWAYS

BUILD ROADS IN MOUNTAINS

California Highway Commissioner Points Way for Opening of Arable Lands—Convicts to Be Used.

"If you will give us the convicts to build roads through the mountains there are 7,500,000 acres of arable land on the eastern plateau of the Sierras that can be opened for settlement," said Charles F. Stern, highway commissioner of California, in supporting the bill which passed the California legislature to permit prisoners to be employed in road building.

California prisoners have not been employed in this work other than in a small way around the prison, but the need of opening the mountain districts has started road building by the prisoners.

The act just passed is modeled after Colorado legislation, under which excellent results have been obtained. The highway department is authorized to make requisition upon the prison department for the number of convicts required, and is to organize and maintain the camps as well as supervise the road work. The prison department, however, retains control over the discipline of the prisoners, and, although the national committee on prisons and prison labor believes better results can be had under the West Virginia system, where the prison department maintains the camps, both the convicts and the state of California will assuredly benefit under the new legislation.

The men are to be worked under the honor system, and the prison department is empowered to grant additional good time allowance to convicts employed in this work, conditioned upon their loyal, obedient and efficient co-operation with the state.

To bring about the earlier completion of the state highways which will make the isolated regions accessible, the bill went into effect ninety days after the adjournment of the legislature.

Reporting the successful passage of the act to the national committee on prisons and prison labor, Mr. Stern writes: "We expect to use from 1,000 to 1,500 convicts on our mountain roads, and a year hence will doubtless have very interesting facts to relate."

California is the last of the western states to employ her convicts in this way, and it is hoped the new legislation is a step toward the reconstruction of her whole prison system along the lines advanced by those who have the welfare of the convict at heart.

Woman's Greatest Trouble.

Big Sandy, Tenn.—Mrs. Lucy Cantrell, of this place, says: "Every two weeks, I had to go to bed and stay there several days. I suffered untold misery. Nothing seemed to help me, until I tried Cardui, the woman's tonic. Although I had been afflicted with womanly weakness for seven years, Cardui helped me more than anything else ever did. It is surely the best tonic for women on earth." Weakness is woman's greatest trouble. Cardui is woman's greatest medicine, because it overcomes that weakness and brings back strength. In the past 50 years, Cardui helped over a million women. Try it for your troubles, today. —Advertisement

START TRAINING BULL EARLY

Inserting Nose Ring is Simple and Short Operation—Composition Metal Does Not Rust.

A bull's training must be started early. A light weight ring should be inserted in his nose when he is from nine to twelve months old, but under no circumstances should he be led by the ring until three or four months after so that the nose can heal up well.

Inserting the nose ring is a simple and short operation when properly done. First tie the bull securely to a post by the head and horns, then take a common trocar and cannula, well sterilized, and push it through the thinnest part of the membrane that separates the nostrils, withdraw the trocar, leaving the cannula in the opening. Put one end of the opened ring in the pointed end of the cannula and then carefully withdraw cannula, which brings the ring into the opening and after closing ring and putting in the screw, the job is done. Before the operation, the ring should be examined and all rough edges carefully filed down so there is nothing to irritate the nose and keep it raw and bleeding.

A Shorthorn Bull.

When the animal is about two to two and one-half years old, the light ring should be removed and a good heavy ring inserted. Iron rings should not be used as they rust and keep the bull's nose raw and sore. The best are made of brass or bronze composition metal and do not rust.

In tying up the bull by the nose, one should be careful to avoid frightening him, causing him to jump back and slit the ring out of his nose. It is safest to pass the tie chain through the nose ring and then up and around his horns and when he jerks back most of the strain comes on the horns and not at the nose.

PROPER TOOLS FOR DAIRYING

Manure Spreader is One of Most Profitable Implements—Silo is Regarded as Essential.

It is impossible to give a specific answer to the question as to what tools a dairyman should possess. Much depends upon a man's pocketbook and the possibility of his changing work with neighbors to get the use of their tools, and upon labor conditions in general. For instance, a manure spreader is one of the most profitable implements for a farmer with any amount of dressing to distribute. Yet it is possible to handle the manure in the old way if a man simply cannot buy a spreader.

If you are dairying you ought to have a silo, and that means a silage cutter and an engine, unless you can arrange with a neighbor to do the work. If you raise potatoes in any quantity a planter, sprayer, and surely a digger, will perform the work most economically. Yet it is possible to get along without these. Of course, you would not expect to compete very successfully with growers who have such improved machinery. This class of tools is in use only a portion of the year, and it ties up your capital to your disadvantage if you have but little to begin with. There are certain things that every farmer is expected to have, such as wagons, plows, harrows, mowing machine, hayrake, etc.

FEED CALVES IN STANCHIONS

Discourages Desire to Suck One Another's Ears—Wooden Device is Entirely Satisfactory.

There are several good reasons for feeding calves in stanchions. The calves can be fed their milk, then their grain, and after they have eaten the grain they will lose their desire to suck one another's ears. A stanchion made of wood will be entirely satisfactory. It should be made from 3 to 3½ feet high and 18 to 24 inches from center to center, with the neck space 4 to 5 inches wide. It is built in the same manner as the old style right stanchion. The calf should be fastened while eating, but loosened from the stanchions after it has eaten its grain. The calf pens and stanchions should be built in the south side of the barn, where plenty of sunshine and light can be had. There is no disinfectant that will take the place of sunshine.

WORK FOR THE UNDERTAKERS

Scarcity of Business and Unpaid Bills
Makes Large Margin of Profit
Absolute Necessity.

In the United States there are today
something more than 30,000 undertakers, declares the Pictorial Review. Attracted by the enormous profits, to be made in funeral goods, more men are constantly swarming into the business.
At the time the School of Philanthropy
made its investigation there were, according to a church paper, 410 undertakers in Chicago. On the average,
each undertaker secured a trifle more than one funeral a week. In New York city there were 1,100 undertakers and about 74,000 deaths annually, which gave each undertaker an average of less than four funerals in three weeks.
For the country as a whole, the average was less than one funeral a week
for each undertaker. Some undertakers got more than one-half of all the business during a given fortnight,
leaving 429 undertakers to divide the other half. Many undertakers had no
funerals at all during these two weeks.
In the course of an entire year they would secure only a handful. Others would get only one or two funerals a month. Yet each undertaker had to keep up his establishment—where he had one—pay office rent, bills for light
and heat, clerk hire and other expenses, and, in addition, make a living,
all from the profits of one or two funerals a month.

But it is not the lack of business
alone that makes necessary this great margin of profit. One of the leading undertakers of New York city said to me: "There is every cent of $50,000 in unpaid bills on our books. We have to make up that loss or we could not stay in business. So we have to charge high prices and the people who do pay make up for those who don't."

WATER LILIES ARE PASSING

Beautiful Flowers Have Greatly Decreased in Indiana—Almost Disappeared in Some Lakes.

Many of the smaller lakes of Indiana a few years ago floated an abundance of water lilies. As the years have gone by and the numbers
of excursionists and summer guests
at these places have increased, the lilies have greatly decreased and from
some lakes have almost disappeared.

What a beautiful flower, beautiful in its mystical loveliness is the white water lily which belongs to the same species as the lotus, which the ancient Egyptians held sacred! How lovely is our lily floating amid its great rounded
leaves cloaking at night to reappear
the next morning in all its unspotted purity. July and August are the months for this flower. An old writer
in enthusiastic admiration of this lily
says:

"Ah, how lovely it looks, floating double, lily and shadow, with its broad leaves looking like green resting places for this queen of waters to sit upon, while dipping her ivory sandals
in the yielding silver; or, when rocked
by a gentle breeze one may fancy they look like a moving fairy fleet with low
green hulls and white sails, slowly
making for the shore!"

But unless the vandals hand of the visitor to these lakes is stayed these lilies will soon be as rare as white blackbirds.

This the Smallest Motor?

A correspondent of the Electrical World writes that he has just completed
a motor which weighs only 5.5
grains and is, he believes, the smallest in the world. Its commutator, which measures .045 inch in diameter, is made up of four gold segments insulated from each other with mica. The shaft on which the commutator is mounted is .009 inch in diameter. Fiber insulation is used between the commutator and the shaft. The tiny armature, .09 inch in diameter, has four pole pieces and is wound with
No. 40 silk covered copper wire. The weight of the revolving part is 1.25
grains. Between the armature and the yolk two field coils are provided.
The silver brushes measure .012 inch in diameter and are held against the commutator by springs .004 inch in diameter. In over all dimensions the motor measures 19-64 inch long and 11-64 inch high. All visible parts are finished in Roman gold. When connected to a small flashlight battery,
the motor runs at a very high speed.

Feed Dogs Whipped Cream.

The discovery that women of Stet-
tin, Germany, have been feeding
whipped cream to their pot dogs,
while mothers have had a hard time
procuring milk for their babies, has aroused a storm of protest from the families of soldiers.

Some idea of the magistrate's opinion of the Stettin women and their dogs may be gleaned from the following notice recently published by him
in a local paper:

"Such a contemptible proceeding,
which makes of self-sacrifice and renunciation a mockery, is, it is to be hoped, the exception and not the rule.
In the meantime, those who have not suspected the existing state of affairs
must be shocked and confounded that Stettin should be so exposed to shame."—Exchange.

Berlin Subways.

Berlin has only begun experimenting with subways. There is virtually but one. It seems miniature compared to the London or New York subways. The cars are small and light running. Every car has a compartment for smokers, from which an overpowering odor of bad tobacco
is always present.

REGARD FOR THE LAW.

Ignorance of the law is no excuse
and disregard of the law is a crime.
When laws are so obvious as to afford excuses for non-compliance they should be changed, and the people have this right. "If your right hand offend you, cut it off," was no idle injunction, but means the offense should be removed rather than the mutilation of the member.

Our Tax Laws are distasteful and detrimental, but the remedy should be to amend them instead of allowing them to undermine the morals of the people by openly disregarding them.

The successful evasion of one Law
may encourage the violation of others
and in time breed a contempt for all Laws.

While every citizen owes obedience to the Laws, the Laws should be made
fair and equal to every citizen.

The Tax Laws are neither fair nor equal and are productive of deceit and dishonor and if for no other reason than this should be changed.

UNIFORM TAXATION.

Property differs so greatly in character and earning power it has always been impossible to tax the various kinds uniformly. Every attempt to tax movable property the same as immovable property has failed and will always fail. "Two wrongs do not make a right," and when assessors
find it impossible to discover the ownership of movable property and undertake to square things by lowering the assessment of immovable property,
there is no right or justice in it and
everybody suffers in mind and matter.
The more stringent the Law to uncover movable property the faster it moves and hides, and this fact is so well established the assessors in most counties let movable property go by default. So-called Uniform taxation is a delusion and a snare. It may suffice to fool the ignorant, but the knowing ones just laugh at it. This is rough on the poor man whose all is in sight and immovable, and is also tough on the rich man who defies the law and hides his wealth from the assessor, for he knows he is doubly guilty in saving himself at the expense of his less fortunate neighbor.

EQUITABLE TAXATION.

The differences in property call for differences in taxation just as "one star differs from another," and yet all the stars and all the property serve their purposes. The man who puts his money in Securities issued on property already taxed and paying more taxes because of the improvements justified by the man's money,
is just as useful a citizen as the man
who puts his money in lands and houses; but when the first man objects to giving up the greater part of the earnings on his securities, issued on property already taxed, he is looked upon as a tax dodger, and the man with the houses and lands who cannot so readily escape denounces a tax system which seems so unfair. Ask this man to surrender a half to three-fourths of the income from his houses
and lands and there would be another tale. The revenue of the first man is limited, while that of the other is unlimited, and yet there are people who cannot see the distinction. Equitable taxation is based on the earning power of all property, in just proportion, and if any partiality is shown it should be in favor of the man who risks his money to improve houses and lands owned by others, which may depreciate, but cannot fly away.

TAX AMENDMENT.

The Tax Amendment was carried
by thirty thousand majority two years ago, but because the Secretary of State failed to advertise it ninety
instead of sixty days before the election, as the Constitution requires, it must be voted on again at the November Election. The welfare of the State demands the re-adoption of this important measure and every fair-
minded citizen should vote for it.

KENTUCKY NEEDS

A good many things to place the State in the rank she deserves in the march of prosperity, but when sifted down the greatest need of all is a new Tax System that will attract instead of repel Capital, which guarantees cheap money for the improvement of farms and development of local industries. Although one of the oldest States, centrally located and
with marvelous natural advantages,
other and less favored States have out-
stripped us, and, as someone has aptly
said, "Kentucky is an island of comparative poverty surrounded by a Sea
of industrial prosperity." And why?
The answer is because of our repellent
Tax System. Equitable taxation means cheap money. Easy money
means improvement and development.
Industrial enterprise keeps the people
at home and increases the population.
More people means more consumers
of our home products. Close markets means good prices, and all of this has been retarded because some wise
acres borrowed a so-called Uniform Tax Law from another State which had been striving to get rid of it for forty years and which shows that an intolerant politician may not always be a tolerable patriot, or Kentucky
would not have been throttled in the way she has been.

REAL ESSENCE OF HUMOR

Conjunction of Things That Are Opposite or Dissonant Are the Most Laughable.

It is well known that the essence of humor is incongruity, the conjunction of things that are opposite or dis-sonant—as the mingling of manliness
and gullibility in Fielding's "Parson Adams," of honesty and knavery in
"Gil Blas," or of shrewdness and stupidity in Sancho Panza.

The most laughable of incongru-
ities is that which arises from the clash of dignity and meanness, eminence and vulgarity, the solemn and the comic. The sense of the comic is sometimes enhanced by suffering.

When the soul is filled with gloom, a ludicrous incident becomes the more ludicrous by contrast. An Englishman who poisoned himself by mistake told one of his friends that when suffering agonies he was deeply conscious of the grimly ludicrous aspects
under which one circumstance succeeded another.

The exquisite irony of the contrast between his own internal sensations
and the sunny indifference or stolid surprise of all around him, while he was in a galloping haste to escape
death, made an impression upon him
which rose above the pain—as, for instance, when his porter asked for leave
to change his shoes before he went
for the doctor.

SEE PORTENTS IN THE STARS

Enthusiastic Frenchmen Profess to View Promises of Victory in Heavenly "Omens."

Patriotic enthusiasm, now at a high pitch in France, has been seeing in the heavens things which it likes to regard as symbolical of French victory in the war. The most talked of "omen" has been a tricolor star
seen over the western horizon last autumn and over the eastern during the winter. Prosaic astronomers have unkindly identified this marvelous star
with Venus, which, like any other heavenly body, shows the spectral
colors when it is near the horizon.
It is remarkable how often Venus has been taken for something that it is not. One would think that no civilized human being could arrive at
years of discretion without becoming
well acquainted with that lovely planet
under her own name, yet her brilliant light in the evening or morning sky
is forever starting some wild rumor.
In 1797—also a time of patriotic fervor—Venus was hailed in France as the star of Napoleon. In recent years
she has most frequently been taken for the light of a spying Zeppelin or aero-plane. It may be added that in some parts of France the "tricolor" star of the last few months was not Venus
but Sirius.

Monkey Died Like a Man.

The death of Bill Snyder, the bahoon of the Central park zoo, from acute indigestion, is chronicled in the day's news. Bill was not one of the higher order of the monkey family;
his kinship to the human race, if he had any, was remote. Yet surely in the manner of his death he displayed
a simian resemblance to man.

He died as hundreds of thousands of
beings higher in the scale of evolution
die, as countless numbers of our "heel citizens" die—from overeating. He was as reckless in the indulgence of his appetite for food as the most cultivated member of the human family
and if the circumstances of his death
excite surprise, it is that his natural instincts did not preserve him from the fate of the most intelligent human beings.

Bill's death points a dietetic moral
for monkeys that exchange the nuts
and roots of the jungle for the richer
food of zoo captivity and idleness.
The application of the moral to mankind need not be considered. A vastly greater number of men die from over-eating than from starvation, and the death of a humble simian in the circumstances from this characteristically human ailment, may serve to emphasize the fact.—New York World.

"Rounding Up" Students.

Ingenuity of college students in writing badly after they have "passed
off" the required freshman or sophomore course in composition is extraordinary. Perhaps it is a reassertion of native inaptness, perhaps it is sheer carelessness. But the remedy to be adopted at Harvard, after special
study of the problem, is a patent one.
A standing faculty committee is to be appointed, and "instructors in all courses will be urged to send to the committee any examination book, thesis or other piece of work which has demonstrated the writer's inability to express his thought." The committee will thereupon prescribe additional work in English for the delinquent
students. The very warning should end mere slovenliness, and those whose fault lies deeper should be grateful for the discipline.—New York Evening Post.

Will Work Asphalt Mines.

The enormous deposit of asphalt
of Leyte province, in the Philippines,
is now to be worked for the eastern market by a local company. This almost inexhaustible deposit lies so near
the shore line at Taclohan that ships
can anchor and take on cargoes of asphalt from lighters loaded at the mines with practically no overland transportation. There is a large and growing demand in the islands for paving asphalt and all the cities of the far East are now in a position to offer a market.

"Gets-It" for Corns, SURE as Sunrise!

Any Corn, With "Gets-It" on It, Is an Absolute "Goner!"

Yes, it's the simplest thing in the world to get rid of a corn—when you use "Gets-It," the world's greatest corn-killer. Really, it's almost a pleasure to have corns just to see

"Gets-It" Puts Your Feet in Clover.

then come off with "Gets-It." It just loosens the corn from the true flesh, easily, and then makes it come "clean off," at hours ends corns for keeps. It makes the use of tape, corn-queuing bandages, irritating salves, knives, scissors, and razors really look ridiculous. Get rid of those corns quickly, surely, painlessly—just easily—with "Gets-It." For warts and bunions, too. It's the 20th century way.

"Gets-It" is sold by all druggists, 25c a bottle, or sent direct by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

Sold in Hopkinsville and recommended as the world's best corn remedy by L. L. Elgin and J. O. Cook.

Baptized on Chair in River.

STEWART COUNTY TO BUILD HIGHWAYS

Election to Be Called to Decide
Matter of Bond Issue.

Dover, Tenn., Oct. 6.—Stewart county court met in Dover Monday and after transacting routine business, passed a resolution laying out a system of highways for the county comprising about 145 miles about equally divided between the north and south side of Cumberland river and adjourned until first Monday of December, when an election will be called to decide the question of issuing bonds to build the system outlined.

Much enthusiasm for good roads was manifested by the court and many citizens who addressed the court. Stewart county is without roads, but the sentiment has gradually grown until its culmination in Monday's action of the court. It is estimated that $200,000 will be required to build the roads designated.

Little River Association.

The 102nd session of Little River Baptist Association, at Harmony church, near Cobb, elected the same officers—Rev. J. T. Cunningham moderator and I. J. Wallis clerk. The forty-nine churches in the Association, with membership of 5,600 reported 350 baptisms during the year, and $3,400.00 to Missions and Benevolence. The 103d session will convene with Farmersville church Sept. 1916.

Kosher Meat Becoming Popular.
Hebrew shopkeepers in Dayton, O., say that kosher meat is becoming more popular than that from ordinary shops among Christian housewives. The careful inspection of this food by a rabbi is said to give buyers a feeling of double security.

THE THRICE-A-WEEK EDITION OF THE NEW YORK WORLD

Practically a Daily at the Price of a Weekly. No other Newspaper in the world gives so much at so low a price.

There never has been a time when a newspaper was more needed in the household. The great war in Europe has now entered its second year, with no promise of an end for a long time. These are world-shaking events, in which the United States, willing or unwilling, has been compelled to take a part. No intelligent person can ignore such issues.

The Presidential contest also will soon be at hand. Already candidates for the nomination are in the field, and the campaign, owing to the extraordinary character of the times, will be of supreme interest. No other newspaper will inform you with the promptness and cheapness of the Thrice-a-Week edition of the New York World.

THE THRICE-A-WEEK WORLD'S regular subscription price is only $1.00 per year, and this pays for 156 papers. We offer this unequalled newspaper and the Hopkinsville Kentuckian together one year for $2.65.

The regular subscription price of the two papers is $3.00.

Left it To His Mother.

Trusting implicitly to his mother's taste in the matter of wife choosing, the Rev. W. H. McCracken, pastor of the Avella Presbyterian church, Avella, Washington county, Pa., returned to Ireland the latter part of August to woo Miss Catherine McElroy, whom he had never seen, but evidently satisfied with his mother's matrimonial theories, for he married Miss McElroy without delay. The day following his marriage the newlyweds returned to America.

AS A GERMAN SPY

Our Old Friend "Doc" Cook is Arrested in Rangoon, Burma.

San Francisco, Oct. 6.—Dr. Frederick A. Cook, who left San Francisco in June to climb Mt. Everest, in the Himalayas, was arrested in Rangoon, Burma, as a German spy, and his motion-picture outfit was confiscated, according to Curtis W. Allen, an American timber buyer, who has returned from an 11 months' trip in the far east.

Allen said that Dr. Cook was released later, but permission to climb Everest was withheld.

The timberman, born in Anacortes, Wash., said he himself was arrested as a spy seven times in 11 months, and at Rangoon was in the same jail with the explorer.

Oct. 31 "No Illiteracy Day."

Frankfort, Ky., Oct. 6.—Sunday, October 31, has been designated as "No Illiteracy Day," by the Kentucky illiteracy commission. Letters will be sent to ministers of all the churches in this state, who will be asked by Miss Cora Wilson Stewart, to preach a sermon against illiteracy on that day.

Academy of Medicine.

POSSUM HUNTER

CASES GO OVER.

Madisonville, Ky., Oct. 6.—The cases of the commonwealth against the thirty-five alleged "possum hunters" set for trial in circuit court yesterday were continued, when called until the seventh day of the February term of court on account of absent witnesses. A large crowd was in the city.

Mobbed Negro Chauffeurs.

Cumming, Ga., Oct. 6.—When a party of automobilists comprising the annual "Seeing Georgia tour" of the Georgia Chamber of Commerce Tuesday drove into Forsyth county, into which no negro has been allowed to enter since four negroes criminally assaulted a young white woman near here two years ago, four of the tourist automobiles, driven by negro chauffeurs, were made targets for stones and sticks, thrown by a crowd of men and boys. An attempt was made to take one of the chauffeurs from his car. No one was injured. They escaped by fast driving.

L. & N. Conductor Dead.

Shortly after his return from Nashville Capt. Joseph S. Robinson, aged sixty-one, one of the oldest conductors of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, and a member of the Orphan Brigade, died of heart failure at his residence, in Louisville, Tuesday.

Robert Cooper left Tuesday night for New York to continue his musical education.

A. S. Tribble has gone to Danville, Ky., to hold a land sale.

Rev. Geo. C. Abbott is attending the convocation of Episcopal churches at Hickman, Ky.

M. F. C. Underwood is still suffering so intensely with a broken leg in his right arm that his physician has ordered him to stay in bed.

Mr. Jas. H. Anderson, of Knoxville, is in the city.

President W. F. Tardy, of the City Bank; Vice President E. L. Weather, of the First National Bank, and Cashier A. H. Eckles, of the Farmers Bank, are attending the State Bankers Association meeting in Louisville.

Submarines Destroyed.

New York, Oct. 6.—More than 73 German submarines have been destroyed or captured by the British, chiefly through the aid of electric detectors, according to William Dubilier, an American engineer, who arrived here on the steamer St. Paul. Dubilier said, although on the highest admiralty officers know the exact number of submarines destroyed, he learned on good authority that the number exceeded 73.

PLANT AT LEAST ONE

TREE THIS FALL.

Farm and Fireside, the national farm paper published in Springfield, Ohio, advises all that can to plant at least one tree this fall. Following is the suggestion:

Twenty-five dollars would plant and care for at least five elm trees for a ten-year period. It is a moderate estimate to say that, at the end of the second year, a building lot would be worth a hundred dollars more for their presence. At the end of twenty-five years a man who owning the land on which they stood would take a hundred dollars apiece for them. Plant an elm tree or a maple near your home this fall, and look upon it as a hundred-dollar endowment policy, maturing in 1940, with no premiums after first year. "No one thinks of shade trees as a profitable crop, and yet, of all vegetable growth cultivated by the hand of man, none renders a more generous return."

FISCAL COURT

Only Matters of Routine Business Attended To.

The regular monthly meeting of the Fiscal Court was held Tuesday. Very little business was before the court.

General claims amounting to about $1,950 were allowed. Poorhouse claims amounting to about $80 were allowed also.

It was ordered that a loan of $5,000 be made from the Bank of Hopkinsville, payable Dec. 1.

Had Done Her Part.

The express was approaching a railway bridge that spanned a deep river, and a stout old lady in one of the compartments showed signs of nervousness. As the train went roaring across the structure she did not speak a word, but seemed to be holding her breath. "There," said a gentleman in a neighboring seat, "we are over it safely." The old lady heaved an explosive sigh. "Well," she said, "if we had gone to the bottom I should have died with a clear conscience, for it wouldn't have been my weight that did it. I bore up so that I really made the train lighter than it would have been without me!"

Tent for the Children.

A tent in the back yard is a great joy to children; it helps to keep house and yard looking neat, for the children can be expected and required to keep their playthings in the tent when they are told that it is their exclusive playground and that they must confine any untidiness to that particular spot.—Today

Polite Conversation.

Two boys from Germany are at our table. Fritz has been in America for a year, but Carl has just arrived. He is first and last a scholar. Fritz told him, however, that in learning our language he must not study with a grammar. What he needed, in fact, was to master our colloquial speech. So he began to learn American slang. One morning an exceedingly dignified gentleman, long past middle age, asked Carl very politely to pass the salt. Much to her horror and to our delight, he responded stolidly, "Sure, Mike!"—New York Evening Post.

WILL OPEN OFFICE HERE.

The Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Co., of Hartford, Conn., will open an office here at once.

The Connecticut Mutual was organized in 1846 and is operating under the Massachusetts Insurance Laws, the strictest insurance laws known.

Mr. L. S. Jordan will be the district agent with headquarters here. Mr. Jordan will be remembered by various Business Men's organizations in Western Kentucky, before whom he has made interesting talks on salesmanship, fire insurance, life insurance, credits, etc.

Mr. Jordan comes under the direct supervision of Mr. Wm. H. Harrison, who has many friends here, and who is now State agent for the Connecticut Mutual with offices in Louisville. Mr. Jordan can be found at the real estate offices of Thos. S. Knight, until he can arrange for an office. He will move his family here in a short time, and we predict for him much success.

MINNEAPOLIS IS "WET"

BY MAJORITY OF 9,000

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 6.—The county option election in this (Hennepin) county was won by the "wets" yesterday by a majority of about 9,000, according to virtually complete returns today.

At the headquarters of the "drys" it was said the struggle to oust the 433 saloons in Minneapolis had not been given up—only deferred.

According to the local option law passed by the last State Legislature, the Prohibitionists can petition for another election in three years.

At Christian Church Tonight.

Everybody is cordially invited to be present tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the W. C. T. U. "Echo" meeting which will be held at the Christian church. The delegates who attended the recent State Convention at Bowling Green will make their reports; there will also be special music and other interesting features. A social session will be held at the close of the program. All members are urged to come and bring some one. Remember the time and place—7:30 tonight at the Christian church.

OFFENSIVE ON EASTERN FRONT

Gen. Stanley Bombards Former Stronghold of Republicans.

40 OTHER SHARP ATTACKS.

Democratic Speeches Ring Throughout the State of Kentucky.

(By Thomas B. Cromwell.)

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 6.—Kentucky Democrats began a great offensive and enveloping movement Monday when Gen. Augustus Owsley Stanley opened up on the eastern front at Prestonsburg, and some 40 of his aids made oratorical stands in the counties having cities wherein registration of voters is required. Gen. Edwin P. Morrow claims to have strongly fortified and entrenched the Republican forces on the eastern front during his three weeks' campaigning in the hills and mountains, but Gen. Samuel Wilbur Hager has passed the word that Gen. James D. Black has found the g. o. p. army shy on munitions and rations and not so well dug-in as reported from the Republican headquarters by Gen. Morris Galvin. He is sanguine that Gen. Stanley's heavy fire will have a withering effect, and that there will be very little left for the third army composed of Moosemen, who entered the campaign under the leadership of Gens. Fred Drexler and Matt J. Holt, with former Congressman Victor Murdock, of Kansas, as their range-finder, at Covington Wednesday night. Gen. Stanley's positions for the remainder of the week will be Hazard, Thursday; Booneville, Friday, and Compton, Saturday.

The Democratic forces in Louisville were mobilized at the Masonic theater Tuesday night and instructed in strategies by Gens. A. O. Stanley, Edward J. McDermott, Robert W. Bingham and Ben S. Washer. They marched away with the scent of victory in their nostrils and are occupying the strong positions in and about the Falls City. To the same point Thursday night the Progressive leaders brought their small army of braves, and they departed, determined to "battle for the principles enunciated in their platform of 1915," though their chances for winning state offices are little. This brought smiles to the lips of the Democrats and frowns to the brows of the republicans who assembled Saturday in the Masonic theater to get their strategic instruction from Gen. Morrow and Gens. Lewis L. Walker and Ben L. Bruner.

Gen. W. J. Gooch, who is in charge of the artillery division of the Democratic forces, says he has 10 to one more guns than the Republicans and 100 to one more than the Progressives, and that when he gets them all in action the enemy will be so completely routed that long before the decisive battle on November 2 the way to Frankfort for the column headed by Gen. Stanley will have been swept entirely free of obstruction. The Democrats, from the highest to the lowest, are feeling their strength, and they are declaring that their majority is only a question of numbers, according to the manner in which the vote comes out, their only fear being that absence from the polls may result from confidence in success and the notion that their votes are not needed. The Democratic slogan, therefore, is, go to the polls and vote and make the majority the largest ever.

Sudden Death.

Duruy's History of the World

Four splendid cloth volumes, full of portraits, sketches, maps, diagrams

Today is the climax of a hundred years of preparation. Read in this timely, authoritative, complete, AND THE ONLY CONDENSED classic world history—which over 2,000,000 copies have been sold in France alone—just what has taken place in the inner councils of Europe during the past one hundred years. Read in these entrancing pages how Russia has for years craftily been trying to escape from her darkness—to get a year-round open port, with its economic freedom. Read how Germany and Austria, fearful of the monster's latent strength, have been trying to checkmate her and how they have pinned all in this last, supreme stake.

The Lesson of the Past

THIS master of the pen shows you the glory that was Greece's and the grandeur that was Rome's. He guides you through the Middle Ages, the picturesque old days of feudalism and the crusades; through the Renaissance up to contemporaneous history, which Prof. Duruy completes in brilliant manner. In the story of the past lie the secrets of today. And you will understand them better when you get the Review of Reviews for a year—for the Review of Reviews will give you a sane interpretation of the events that are taking place with such rapidity. It is not enough to read the daily news reports. Your ability to comprehend conditions, and to discuss them rationally depends on a true interpretation of the meaning and the "reason why" of events. In your mind you must bring order out of chaos—and the Review of Reviews will do it for you.

BLACK SHEEP ARE REQUIRED

Provisions for Army Uniform Cloth in Case of War—Searching for Good Domestic Dye.

One of the difficulties to be met in the selection of a natural mottled brown for cloth for the army is the shortage of black or brown sheep, says the Army and Navy Journal. In the experiments conducted in the quarter-master corps under the direction of Brig. Gen. Henry G. Sharpe it has developed that it will require 70 per cent of brown or black wool for the cloth under consideration. A less proportion of dark wool would produce too light a color of cloth and would not meet the requirements of the army.

In peace time, with the present strength of the regular army, there will be no shortage of black wool, but in the event of war it would be necessary to use dyes in producing the cloth for the uniform of a large army. To provide for this contingency, General Sharpe is now conducting investigations to determine whether a domestic dye can be secured for coloring cloth. Unless this can be done the position of the war department will not be improved by adopting the new cloth.

The European war has called attention of the war department to the fact that the present cloth uniforms cannot be produced without the use of German dye-stuffs. This fact is responsible for the effort that is now being made to secure a cloth that can be produced without the importation of any foreign material. Not until the cloth can be found which can be manufactured without the use of such material will there be any change in the uniform of the army.

GERMANS SINK FAMOUS BARK

Flery Cross Was Participant in Great Tea Races of '60s—Outlived All Her Contemporaries.

The Norwegian bark Flery Cross, recently sunk by a German submarine off the Scilly Isles, was the celebrated China clipper that figured so prominently in the great tea races of the '60s, says the New York Times. She was built in 1860 to replace the old Flery Cross, which had been wrecked in the previous year.

Basil Lubbock, in his fascinating work on "The China Clippers," says: "She was commanded on her maiden voyage by Dallas, who had been so successful with the first Flery Cross. Then Richard Robinson had her until 1866, and under these two famous skippers she proved well-nigh invincible, receiving the premium for the first vessel in dock on no fewer than four occasions, and being only 24 hours behind in 1864 and 1866. Besides remaining in the forefront of the racing for years longer than any other vessel, she outlived all her contemporaries."

In the great tea race of 1866, won by the Ariel, the Flery Cross held the lead for a long time, and when in the Downs was obliged to anchor because of a gale that sprang up. In 1871 she deserted the London trade for that of New York, and was afterward sold to the Norwegians.

One Man's Value.

In the multitude of legislatures founded by Englishmen and their descendants in various parts of the world the hereditary principle has found no place. In former times in England the house of lords stood for a great fact. The magnates of whom it was composed possessed much power, to which fortunately the constitution gave legitimate expression.

It has been the signal merit of the English constitution that it has been capable of modification so as to keep abreast of the facts.

In this twentieth century of ours Great Britain, like the United States, like Canada and like England's great colonies, can only be governed by the frank acceptance of democratic principles.

We have to reconcile old forms with modern sentiment and habit of thought. Everywhere the theory that one man is as good as another is recognized as lying at the base of modern constitutional systems.

To Make All Shoes Comfortable.

Everyone hates to break in a new shoe and doubtless with this idea in mind two Milwaukee inventors, Harry M. Klingensfeld and Arthur H. Inbusch, have patented No. 1,140,599, a machine for breaking in shoes in which there is an endless belt traveling over a suitable base and leglike levers have suitable foot portions to receive the shoes and are operated to move in simulation of a walking action upon the traveling platform so that the shoes may be actually broken in by a walking movement. —Scientific American.

Solid Alcohol Fuel.

The raw fuel, solid alcohol, is a helpful means of enjoying hot beverages and meals when out of doors. Special small stoves are constructed, under which can be burned the small container of solid alcohol. This needs only to be lighted with a match and the flame is put out by placing the cover over the can. It is hot fuel and enables the outdoor cook to cook a chop, eggs, or heat water for coffee, beef tea, canned soup, etc.

United States Gold and Silver.

The value of all the gold produced in the United States from 1793 to January 1, 1914, is estimated by the United States geological survey at $3,549,793,400; the value of silver at $1,709,817,600.

LESSON FOR KING'S STEWARD

Frederick William III of Prussia Was Man of Few Words—Interested Himself in Details.

King Frederick William III of Prussia was a man of few words; whatever he had to say was always brief and to the point, as the following anecdote from a foreign journal shows:

The king, who was accustomed to interest himself in all the details of court management, ordered his steward to take special pains to see that all the carriages and wagons were amply supplied with food and drink whenever they left for a journey of a day or so; but it sometimes happened that the steward failed in his duty and dispatched the drivers without any food, giving them a coin, perhaps, to buy what they wanted. That usually meant that the driver went hungry, as he did not have much opportunity to leave his horses and dine at a shop or restaurant.

At length the king became aware of his steward's failure to carry out his orders and awaited the next opportunity to bring the fact to his attention. He had not long to wait. That night the king stopped his coachman as he entered the courtyard, and upon inquiry found that the man had had nothing to eat since breakfast. He held out a dollar in his hand that the steward had given him to buy food with. Without a word the king took the dollar.

He went into the castle and summoned the steward. That worthy appeared immediately and made a profound bow; but as he raised himself up he was surprised to feel a coin placed against his mouth.

"Eat it!" ordered the king.

"But, your majesty, I—"

"Eat it!" the king again roared.

"Why, your majesty, I can't eat it!"

"Oh, you can't? But you expected the coachman to! Well, in the future just remember that—that people eat food, not money. Do you understand?"

The steward understood; in the future the king's coachmen were amply supplied with provisions whenever they went upon a journey.—Youth's Companion.

SCOTCH COLLIE IN COURT

With Assistance of Child Friends Dog Comes Out of Difficulty With Flying Colors.

A Scotch collie dog was acquitted in police court recently of the charge of being "ferocious and vicious," says a Jackson, Mich., dispatch to the New York World. The complaint, which was directed against the owner, John De Landers, but meant far more to the dog's welfare than to John's, was signed by T. P. Murphy, a street car conductor. Mr. Murphy resides at 210 Bush street and Mr. De Landers at 307 Bush street.

Each of them owns a dog, and recently the two animals participated in a chivalric match on Mr. Murphy's front porch. The latter's little girl tried to pass them at the time they were "scrapping" and the Scotch collie snarled and snapped at her, perhaps thinking she was bent on stopping the fight.

Mr. Murphy testified that while the dog did not bite the child and he could not say the canine had ever bitten anyone, still he contended the Scotch collie had a disposition to be barking and stirring up a row.

"He is a regular fight promoter and a nuisance in the neighborhood," said the complainant to the judge.

The defendant had brought into court a raft of children who have been in the habit of playing with the dog, and they declared the dog was all right. Then came the dog's turn, and he took the stand in his own defense. Jumped up into the witness chair, wagged his tail, blinked his eyes and extended his tongue and shook himself joyously as Judge Dahlem talked to him and asked him if it were true that he was ever naughty.

"He never bites, just plays," remarked one of the children while patting him on the back.

The judge concluded the dog was not vicious or dangerous and returned a verdict of not guilty.

SHY AT ALL INNOVATIONS

Humanity Slow to Recognize Even the Things of Life That Are the Best.

Few good things get a hearty welcome when they knock at the door. Human nature shies at innovation, and can be persuaded to adopt it only after pioneers have worn the blush of newness off and stood firm until ridicule has crawled back into its hole.

We hope that the young men who are wearing what the haberdashers call "sport shirts" will prove worthy pioneers, proof against laughter, strong in the face of irrational prejudice. For, by their services, mankind may escape the tyranny of the hard boiled collar. The day may come when the morning wrestling with buttons and buttonholes which hate each other like sin will do like the memory of a boyhood nightmare. That sawmill effect which collars occasionally get and the clammy strangling that goes with humid days will go down in the books as evils conquered. All because a few courageous young men in every community place the good of their fellows above the sensitiveness of their souls.—Toledo Blade.

Even on the Mountain Top.
 Smith lived in a neighborhood where there were many pianos, phonographs, barking dogs and sweet children, and finding that sleep was impossible, he began to look around for a quiet retreat. Finally he found it on the top of a mountain, and great was his happiness.

One day, however, he appeared in town looking extremely sad, and his friends quickly questioned him as to the cause.

"It's no use, boys," he responded in a dejected voice. "It is simply a waste of time to fight the inevitable." "Yesterday a young man came up on the mountain," explained Smith, "and pitched a tent near my bungalow. This morning he told me that he was going to spend the summer there learning to play the violin."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

Pudding Sure Sign of Battle.
 A British soldier who wears the ribbon of South Africa, was asked while on leave at home recently, whether the soldiers knew for long beforehand when they are going to be called upon to deliver an assault.

"Well, they don't exactly tell us, but we always know," he replied, smiling, rather grimly, "you see, if a number of stry chaplains suddenly turn up, we can always guess that something good and hard is going to be asked of us shortly. If they serve us with pudding for dinner before we go into the trenches, why, then we know for certain!"

Not Needed.
 Professor Munsterberg has invented an apparatus which indicates whether a party engaged in conversation is telling the truth. In the case of some people we know the contrivance is not needed to show that they are lying.—New Orleans States.

Antiseptic Vaccine.
 A Great British physician, Sir Almroth Wright has invented an antiseptic vaccine. By inoculation, it is hoped, a soldier before going into battle may be made proof against the infection of wounds.

Good Excuse.
 "John, what possessed you to buy this chow-chow dog?"
 "I don't know, Maria, unless I was pickled."

Nearly Smothered.

Chandler, N. C.—Mrs. Augusta Lomax, of this place, writes: "I had smothering spells every day, so bad I expected death at any time. I could not sit up in bed. I suffered from womanly troubles. My nerves were unstrung. I had almost given up all hope of ever being better. I tried Cardui, and it did me more good than anything I had ever taken. I am better now than I ever expected to be." Thousands of ladies have written similar letters, telling of the merits of Cardui. It relieved their headache, backache and misery, just as it will relieve yours, if you will let it. ### Enormous Biplane.

The Russian Sikorsky biplane, is the largest heavier-than-air machine yet invented. It has a wing-surface at least five times greater than that of the commodious Farmen biplane. Its steel frame is 22 yards long. Its dead weight is over three and a half tons, and it can carry a "useful load" of over a ton. At least a quarter of a ton would consist of explosives. Nearly half a ton of fuel and oil is carried. The space between the planes is nine feet deep. The forepart of the machine consists of steel-walled cabins, extending over a length of about 30 feet. These cabins have large windows on each side, like those of an omnibus. The cabins are electrically lit at night. In cold weather they are heated through the exhaust.

Fact Versus Theory.

Certain theorists maintain that men and the so-called lower animals are what they eat. But Queenie, a year-old Bronx pet, entirely disproves the theory in person. Queenie is a baby lioness who has been reared on a nursing bottle, ginger snaps and soothing syrup, but she attacked a laborer in New York with the same ferocity she would have evinced had she been fed rich, raw red meat instead.—Buffalo Times.

Argentine Wines.

Production of wine in Argentina is one of the most important industries of the country. In 1913 the record production of 110,000,000 gallons was reached. Practically all of the wine produced in Argentina is of a common variety, and for table use only. The exportation of Argentine wines is very limited.

Not Sure of Himself.

Even members of the family had to look twice to be sure as to "who was who" of the twins. But they didn't put different colored hair ribbons on them until the day when grandma, coming into the living room, said to the small person looking out of the window, "Is it Josie or Rosie?" And the twin replied, "I flink it's Josie."

SINGING INSECTS OF JAPAN

Are Kept as Pets by Every Class of People in the Empire of the Mikado.

The season of singing insects usually begins on May 28, the fair day of the Fushigawa Fudo temple—an immemorial custom observed by the insect fanciers of Tokyo. From that date on insect dealers carrying cages swarming with chirping pets will be seen at evening fairs or in the streets. Singing insects are favored by every class of people in Japan. The late Empress Shoken was noted for her fancy for kantan, a species of singing insect. H. I. H. the Crown Prince Hirohito is known to keep kajika or singing frogs himself. And H. I. H. Prince Fushimi is well versed in the knowledge of all the chirping varieties. It is understood that the imperial household department orders insects from Torisan, an insect dealer in Yotsuya, who is also patronized by the Mitsui family. Besides this man there are two famous fanciers, one being Mr. Komiya at Kanda, while the other is Mr. Kswazumi, Yoyogi, a suburb of this city. The current price of the insects a head runs from 2½ cents for grasshopper to 12½ cents for kantan and umagomol. The price of insect cages ranges from $7.50 down to 2½ cents. The insects must be kept in the shade and never in the sun, nor be sprinkled with water.

WAS NOT TO BE FOOLED

Woman Knew Her Husband Too Well to Accept Visitor's Story as a Truthful One.

"Some women are terrors," remarked a Brooklyn man in a whisper, "and the wife of a friend of mine is sure one of that species. I was smoking in her presence the other day, she having said I might, and she sniffed the atmosphere a time or two before making any comments on my efforts."

"Huh," she said, "I don't object to smoking, but I do object to a bad cigar."

"I thought I had her dead to rights on that and proposed to crush her in her pride. I beg your pardon, madam," replied with charming naivete, "your husband gave the cigar to me."

"But did that keen repartee knock her out? It did not."

"I don't believe you," she said with cold assurance. "My husband never gave anybody a cigar in his life. I know him."

"Of course further badinage on my part was useless and I backed off, quite abashed. And the sad, sad part of the story is she called the turn on me both times. That's one reason some women are terrors."

Harvest Time in Shantung.

Now, come and see a harvest in Shantung. Here, too, it is the time of supreme interest to the whole family. Life in the country is practically measured by so many wheat harvests, and every old man and woman hopes to live to see one more. For weeks before, all plans are made with reference to it. Carpentry, masonry, work of every kind must either be finished before "pulling wheat time" or laid aside at that time to wait until the harvest is over. No matter how important, in the eyes of a foreign resident, the work in hand may become, he cannot beg or buy his workmen to continue when once the wheat is ripe. In the hospitals all the patients want to get well by wheat-pulling time. Some must stay on, but many a one, incapacitated in hand or foot for real work, goes home to take his or her place in "watching the gate," that all the rest of the family may go to the field and threshing floor.

Mercury Kills Germs.

Mercury is the destroyer of germ diseases in plants brought out in the Tyrol by F. N. Bickel. The vapor may be used in the greenhouses, but in the open air the metal in the usual liquid form is injected into the circulating fluids of the plants being treated. In trees, several eight-lach holes are bored through the pith in the lower branches, filled with mercury and sealed with wax—a sixteenth to a fourth of an ounce of mercury being used for each tree. The germicide effect is said to continue at least a year, and growth is not retarded.

Bear's History Traced.

Studies made at the American Museum of Natural History show that the so-called blue or glacier bear, formerly classed as a distinct species under the name of Ursus Emmons, and confined to a limited region near St. Elias range in Alaska, is only a color phase of the black bear (Ursus Americanus). The black bear has a number of other well-named color phases, some of them very local. Thus the white bear, formerly called Ursus Kermodei, is apparently one of these variants; while the cinnamon bear is a well-known color phase of the same species.

All for the Moment.

A man was walking along the street, and he saw a house on fire. He rushed across the way and rang the bell. After some time a lady, who proved to be slightly deaf, appeared at the door. "Madam, your house is on fire." "What did you say?" The man began dancing up and down. He pointed above. "I said your house is afire! Flames bursting out! No time to lose!" "What did you say?" "House afire! Quick!" The lady smiled. "Is that all?" she said sweetly. "Well," replied the man hopelessly, "that's all I can think of just now."

Building Character.

When an architect plans a great building, and specifies the dimensions of pillars, arches and walls, he has to be guided by a knowledge of the strength of the material he is to use. Bricks and floor tile must be tested as to the pressure they will bear, for crumbling stone and defective iron may bring loss and disaster later. But we are not so careful in the building of character. We fancy that weakness in one place may be counterbalanced by strength in another; that a few good habits set over against some bad habits average up pretty well, and that the days of careless building, when we are in no mood to do our best, may be atoned for by extra good work further on. Many a life goes down in ruin before some sudden temptation just because of this building into it of poor material unfit to stand a strain.

Unusual Offer To Our Readers.

For a limited time, and subject to withdrawal after 30 days, the well-known publishing house of the J. B. Lippincott Company, Philadelphia, founded in 1792, offers to the readers of this paper a 12 months' subscription to "Lippincott's Magazine" and a year's subscription to the Kentuckian, both for $3.00. This is the price of a twelve months' subscription to "Lippincott's" alone. Additional to obtaining every issue of this paper for a year, our readers will receive in "Lippincott's," 12 great complete novels by popular authors, 105 short stories, crisp, entertaining, original 45 timely articles from the pens of masters, and each month some excellent poems with the right sentiment, and "Wanits and Wine," the most popular humor section in America. To obtain this extraordinary offer prompt action is necessary, for to J. B. Lippincott Company, Washington Square, Phila., Pa. Advertisement.

Escaped Disease.

Typhus, which under the name of "prison fever," was once rampant in England, held no terrors for John Howard, the prison reformer. While in a cell he would hold to his nose a phial of aromatic vinegar, and on going home would wash and change his clothes, though even these precautions he later abandoned. People thought his powers bordered on the magical, pressed him for his secret, and refused to believe his explanations that his immunity was due to fearlessness, cleanliness and temperance. He ate no flesh, and very little of anything; he drank neither wine nor spirits, and went to bed early and rose early. And his asceticism enabled him to let light into the most noisome dungeons and to live to the age of sixty-four years.

27 APPLES ARE PUT IN ONE BUSHEL

Henderson County Winesaps
The World's Finest—60,000
Barrels in Storage.

Evansville, Ind., Oct. 6.—Evansville cold storage houses are now receiving 60,000 barrels of apples, the greater bulk coming from surrounding territory and the finest in quality coming from Henderson county, Ky.

The Henderson winesaps bid fair to become the most talked about apple in the world. The Kentucky product is pronounced by experts to surpass in size, color and flavor the best produced in the northwest.

The production in the Henderson county orchards is running close to 100 barrels to the acre and is selling at $1.50 to $2.50 a barrel, thus giving a return of $150 to $250 an acre to the grower.

Within the past ten years Henderson county has planted 2,000 acres in apple trees, half of which are bearing now. On the Henry P. Barrett farm there is an orchard of 30 acres now bearing and 50 acres in young trees which will begin bearing in two or three days from harvest this year. Mr. Barrett is packing many bushel boxes containing only 30 apples; such is their extraordinary size. For the Kentucky state fair he packed a bushel box of 27 apples, each of which weighed almost two pounds. In color and all other requirements these apples are perfect.

The Kentucky apples, due to the scientific manner in which the orchards are handled and the fruit is gathered and packed, are commanding the top prices. Henderson county apples get more sunshine than the apples raised in the northwest and have natural moisture, instead of irrigation.

EASY TO PLEASE

"Do you prefer any particular month to get married in?"

French Soldiers' Ways.

A lieutenant describes in Everyman's Belgian Supplement the soldiers of France as "big children." He says that the foundation of the army of the republic is the peasant who has a simplicity that makes him docile to the dictates of discipline and the orders of his superiors. A democracy is growing in the army that did not before exist. "You may," he says, "be as exacting as you like, regarding the divers service duties. For three or six months of rainy winter you may make them work 14 hours a day at earthworks exposed to shot and shell if you treat them as friends. If you trouble about their meals, their footgear, their straw bedding, and above all if you swear at them, when they do impudent things. You can get wonderful results out of them; if you tickle their vanity, they are charmed, they adopt you, they would face death to fetch you if you lay wounded on the field."

Pay of Capital Employees.

Uncle Sam has more than 36,000 employees in Washington to whom he pays an average of $1,135 a year, or a total of about $41,140,000. The highest average salaries are paid to White House employees who get $3,900 a year, and the lowest is paid to employees in the state, war and navy building, averaging $560 a year. Co-operative haying is now practiced by a part of the employees, and it is suggested that this and other co-operative activities might be profitably practiced by the entire army of Uncle Sam's workers in the capital city.

PURSuing POLLY

By IZOLA FORRESTER.

Peter sat up, ran his fingers through his towed hair and boomed at Polly like a benevolent imp. "I don't see what you want to rush off to New York for. You won't make good, Polly. You girls think after you've sung in the choir in a dinky little town like Waneota all you have to do is get up on a stage and be a prima donna quicker'n scat. Buell says—"

"I don't care to hear it, Peter."

"What on earth have you got against Buell Ahhott? Rising young lawyer, and, by jimmies, he will rise sure enough. He's going up in an aeroplane."

"For pity's sake!" exclaimed Mrs. Wadleigh. Polly looked at Peter with doubt and suspicion in her eyes and the time table in her hand.

"He is. I heard him talking to some fellows at the post office, and he said he'd just as soon go as not."

Polly went out of the room with her nose tilted at rather a scornful angle. It was quite like Buell to say such a thing in Peter's hearing to be sure it reached her ears and would make her worry about him.

Polly decided that nothing could ever make her worry or trouble herself again about Mr. Abbott. She was not interested in his goings or comings, or ascensions for that matter. Safe in her own room, she stood before the oval mahogany-framed mirror, and looked at the face that stared so haughtily, so uncompromisingly, back at her. The eyes were very blue, startlingly blue, with dark lashes and eyebrows, and her hair, too, was dark. Polly liked to take it and pile it high on her head, with a few loose curls at her temples and ears, like a picture of the Empress Josephine she had cut from a magazine and pinned on the wall. It was a pity someone had not planned an opera around Josephine, she thought. She would have loved singing arias of defiance at some stocky Napoleon.

Buell was rather stocky. Tall, but broad shouldered, and rather inclined to take things too easy. Yes, that was exactly the whole trouble, Polly decided for the hundredth time. He didn't have a thrill of romance or temperamental excitement in his whole make-up.

It had always seemed natural for Buell to be her sweetheart, natural for him to ask her quite casually one evening a few months ago, "Which side of the railroad track do you want to live on, Polly, after we're married?"

That was the way Buell proposed, spoke of the divine fire of love in his heart. And it was Buell all over.

Polly had rebelled from that minute. She did not select her favorite side of the track either. She told Mr. Abbott that she thought of running down to New York and studying for grand opera. And Buell had stared at her for a minute in utter amazement before he had actually laughed at her and chuckled.

"You're not, really, Polly?"

"Oh, but I am," insisted Polly. "I'm going next week."

All during her preparation for the trip she thought of him until by the time she took the train for New York she almost relented and called him up to say good-by. Somehow he seemed rather noncommittal and not half so anxious as she had expected.

It was around Poughkeepsie, half way down the Hudson, that Polly noticed the other passengers watching something from the windows, something very exciting. When she looked out she saw hovering over the river a flying ship like a great bird. Straight down it came toward the racing train. As it passed them, the engine emitted a shriek of salute, and the people called from the windows and platforms, waving caps and handkerchiefs; but Polly drew back into her own seat, with wide, almost frightened eyes. Over the telephone Buell had told her last of all:

"Remember our favorite song, 'Loch Lomond, Polly? Well, listen to this, and it's a promise—"

"You take the high road and I'll take the low road."

And I'll be in Scotland before you."

Now she knew what he meant. Slow, oazy going, unromantic Buell had chosen the most sensational route to follow and overtake his sweetheart on her journey after fame and fortune. Outdistancing the train, the aeroplane alighted at Tarrytown, and when the express pulled in Buell stood smiling on the platform, his hat off, howling in response to the greeting cheers.

As soon as he had found Polly he shook hands laughingly and settled down into the seat beside her.

"I've told the other chap, Chapin, he can go back without me," he said calmly. "Made pretty good time, didn't we?"

Polly looked at him with a new expression of admiration in her wide eyes.

"I don't see why you ever did such a wild thing, Buell," she said helpfully.

"Don't you?" he replied cheerfully. "Well, I had to catch you before you reached Aunt Kuleba, didn't I? Now, as soon as we reach New York I can catch a matter to her, Polly, and we'll be married at her house and go back to Waneota."

Polly smiled. Some way her contemplated career was fading like the aeroplane vanishing behind them in the blue sky.

"I suppose I must, Buell," she said. (Copyright, 1915, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

SON TO CONTEST SPALDING'S WILL

Declares Millionaire Sporting Goods Man Unduly Influenced By Second Wife.

San Diego, Cal., Oct. 5.—Contest of the will of the late A. G. Spalding, baseball pioneer and millionaire sporting goods merchant, was to be entered today immediately after the filing of the will for probate, by Spalding's son, Keith, who charges that the will was procured through the "undue influence of his wife, Elizabeth Churchill Spalding, and Mrs. Katherine Tingley, head of the Universal Brotherhood and Theosophical Society at Point Loma, Cal. Spalding died at his residence in Point Loma, September 9 last.

The contest alleges that for several years before his death Spalding was not in his right mind; that his mental and physical strength was impaired by advancing age, by sickness and by business worries. About $2,000,000 was accumulated by Spalding and his first wife, who died in 1899, according to the contestor. This, says Keith Spalding, was the result of the joint industry of his father and mother and was accumulated before the second marriage, which took place in 1900.

At the time of her marriage to Spalding, says the contestor, Mrs. Elizabeth Churchill was the intimate friend of Katherine Tingley in "a theosophical brotherhood at Point Loma," and was "held out by Mrs. Tingley to the public and to Elizabeth Churchill Spalding as her successor in the command of the work and institution."

Immediately after the marriage, the document continues, Mrs. Spalding persuaded her husband to take up his residence within the grounds of the theosophical institution. The purpose of this, it is alleged, "upon information and belief," was to alienate Spalding from his son.

Mrs. Elizabeth Churchill Spalding, the widow, who filed the will for probate and who was named as executrix, estimated the estate to be worth $600,000. Keith Spalding was under the terms of the will to receive $100,000, of which amount he had already received $65,000. The adopted son, Albert Spalding, was also bequeathed $100,000, of which he has received $1,000. The remainder of the estate was left to Mrs. Spalding.

Oh, fair to behold is my Mabel,
And stunning the style of her dress;

For months I have longed to be able
This most charming maid to possess.

But of late there's one thing that has threatened

My love of its ardor to rob—

When I take her to dine

And this angel of mine

Attempts to eat corn on the cob.

Her form is the form of a Venus,

Her smile sends a thrill through

my heart;

There's been never a cross word between us,

Yet I feel that some day we must part.

For, although every moment I'm

with her

Dan Cupid is right on the job,

He is filled with dismay,

For his darts go astray

When my sweetheart eats corn on

VICK'S Group and SALVE FOR ALL COLD TROUBLES

Breaking a Record.

San Francisco, Oct. 6.—The United States submarines K-3, K-4, K-7 and K-8 were proceeding today under their own power for the naval station at Honolulu, T. H., 2,200 miles distant. If they complete without aid the voyage begun at San Francisco yesterday, a new long distance record for United States submarines, it is said, will have been set. Tenders will be required for the trip.

The cruiser Maryland, naval officer Nanshen, tug Iroquois and torpedo boat destroyer Lawrence, are acting as convoys.

The greatest war game in the history of the nation now is under way off the Atlantic coast with all available ships in action.

The Story of Pocahontas.

For a hundred years the school children of the United States have been edified by the tale of how the lovely Indian princess, Pocahontas, saved the life of that romantic adventurer, Captain John Smith.

The basis of this story is an account written by Smith, who had led a long life of adventure in the east. Various writers have from time to time had the temerity to doubt the story, but this has had no effect upon the popular imagination and the story of Captain Smith and Pocahontas became one of the fixtures of American history. Now, however, there comes a writer who boldly disputes the authenticity of the story and declares that Captain Smith was a romancer, pure and simple, and that he told this story because it helped make a book he wrote eight years after the adventure, more saleable than it would otherwise have been.

According to the testimony of certain historians who have been conducting a more or less exhaustive research into the subject, Smith wrote his first book in 1616 and at that time had made but brief mention of an episode which saved his life. Eight years later he published another book and this time he gives all the details. But the cold-blooded historians of the present day evidently have a "pick" on Captain Smith, for Professor Edward Channing, the well-known educator, is quoted in Harper's Magazine as referring to:

The utter unreliability of Smith's account entirely apart from the Pocahontas story.

The average reader will, however, agree with Professor Albert Hart, when he asks what is to be gained by thus cruelly destroying one of the most cherished tales of childhood, a tale that has entertained millions of young Americans? The proof is somewhat inferential. Capt. Smith was a fact, Pocahontas was a fact and the great Emperor Powhatan was a fact. Smith was captured and condemned to death. What then is to be gained by such a critical study of an unimportant detail?

We agree with Prof. Hart. Leave us Captain Smith and the Princess Pocahontas. The learned writers can better employ their time than in dissipating the stories that have for a century embellished the pages of history and passed pleasant hours for young America. — Henderson Journal.

The Anglo-French $500,000,000 bond issue has been oversubscribed. It is possible that when the underwriters' books are finally closed it will be found that $50,000,000 more than needed has been spoken for. Both John D. Rockefeller and William Rockefeller have subscribed, the first, it is reported, for $10,000,000, the last for a sum believed to be less, but not disclosed.

Stewart Carothers, a cartoonist for the Chicago Herald, fell to his death from a fifth-story window of a hotel. Two of his companions said he was sitting in the window, seeking relief from a headache when they retired. It is believed that he lost his balance. His mother, Mrs. Neil Carothers, lives in Fayetteville, Ark. He was unmarried.

Heeding the warning by a Mexican who swam the Rio Grande Monday to report the gathering of a number of Mexicans opposite Capote, Texas, the United States cavalry patrol in that section was reinforced. The Mexican declared that the bandits had planned to attack Capote during Monday night.

Ada Louise Hiatt, a Memphis school girl, shot herself to death in her father's home, Highland avenue and Spotswood street Monday. She was 15 years old. Despondency over a love affair is believed to have caused the girl to take her life.

Rockefeller as Harmonizer.

The Rockefeller industrial plan was unanimously accepted by directors of the Colorado Fuel & Iron Company, while the miners at half a dozen camps are taking referendum vote on it.

Defeat.

No one is beat till he quits,
No one is through till he stops,
No matter how hard failure hits,
No matter how often he drops,
A fellow's not down till he lies
In the dust and refuses to rise.

Fate can sham him around and bang him around,
And batter his frame till he's sore,
But she never can say that he's drowned

While he bolts up serenely for more,
A fellow's not dead till he dies,
Nor beaten till he no longer believes.

Need No Help From Man.
No flower of the field or forest can survive long unless it learns to adjust itself to its environment. It is only the cultivated plant that cannot do this. Years of reliance upon man to fight its battles for it have taken from the cultivated plant all ability to fight its own battle of existence. Who ever heard of lettuce being able to flourish outside of the garden? Or the bean? Or the beet? Or the cabbage? Their resourcefulness have been bred out of them, and they must have their homes prepared for them. Not so with weed and wild flower. With no hand to help them, they fight their own battle for the survival of the fittest with their own generalship and their own forces.

Screwdriver for Any Screw.
The simple idea that makes the inventor successful is illustrated by a new vest pocket screwdriver capable of fitting screws of any size. It is nothing but a disk of metal about the size of a large coin. The edge of the disk is put into the slot of a screw like the blade of an ordinary screwdriver. One edge is thin, for small screws, and another is thick, with a graduated thickness between the two extremes for the purpose of having an edge that will fit any slot. A hole in the middle of the disk gives a chance to slip in a nail or pocket knife, or anything else handy, to be used as a lever on tight screws. —Saturday Evening Post.
